SWALLOWS

Swallows have long, pointed wings and a forked tail. A swallow’s back is covered in shiny, dark-blue feathers. The feathers on its chest and underneath its wings are white or cream. Its throat is red. Swallows live in gardens, marshes, moors and fields. Swallows eat insects which they catch in the air. They build nests on ledges in barns and sheds. The bowl-shaped nest is built from mud and grass, and is lined with soft feathers and hair. The female swallow lays between four and six eggs. She sits on them for about two weeks. While she sits on the eggs, the male swallow feeds her. When the eggs have hatched, the young birds are fed by both parents.
